LESS ACREAGE FOR SOME STATE CROPS

Potatoes and Tobacco Outlook for Reduction—Field Work Delayed.

Madison—Larger acreage of alfalfa, approximately the same acreage of feed grains and lower acreages of potatoes and tobacco, are in prospect for Wisconsin crops, the coming season, according to a report of the agricultural situation released today by Paul O. Nylund, federal-state crop reporter. The report covers conditions in the dairy, hop, potato, tobacco and pea canning industries.

Field work has been delayed by unusual weather conditions, the summary declares. Competent farm help is hard to locate and with the present outlook of prices for dairy products, there will be considerable hesitancy along without little help, it is said. The report in part follows:

Dairy Industry.

"Cheese prices since the beginning of the year have been on a lower level than a year ago, and have risen rapidly in early April, somewhat of a seasonal change but reaching low points. Since there has been a prevailing confidence in the market, butter prices are lower than last year.

In the special hog raising area of southwestern Wisconsin, it is apparent that there is a marked reduction in the number of spring sows compared with a year ago. In the greater part of the state, however, the reduction is less marked.

Potato Industry.

"Potato prices prior to April 1, stayed at about the same level of 65 to 75 cents per hundred. At these prices, the potato grower has the much potato districts of the state, farmers showed dissatisfaction with the 1923 results by indicating a reduction in the number of spring sows compared with a year ago. In the greater part of the state, however, the reduction is less marked.

Tobacco Industry.

"The 1923 crop of tobacco has moved slowly. Much of the crop was of poor quality due to frost injury and shoddy, and except for the better grades, the demand has been only moderate. There has been a strong, active demand for the better binder grades. With prices being held on a grade basis, there is a strong incentive offered to improve methods and raise the better grades. The discouraging effect of frost damage and shoddy and slow movement may show itself in a reduced acreage, particularly in southern Wisconsin.

"The pea canning industry has expanded rapidly in recent years. A considerable number of new factories were built last year with little difficulty experienced in contracting new acreage. The acreage is holding its place in the older pea canning sections. It would seem that larger quality packs are being absorbed by the consuming public."

WILL SHOW 'MOVIES' AT FARM MEETINGS

The new program of extension work, "Clean Hearts and Clean Farms," showing the value of tuberculosis eradication work will be shown at community meetings in the afternoon of May 27, at Madison, and in the afternoon of May 28, at Janesville. The program has been arranged by the Farm Bureau and in Madison by the Madison club and in Janesville by the Janesville club.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead—The 1923 Ford sedan, overcoat and robe belonging to James Brodhead, Jr., Monticello, stolen in Brodhead Thursday night, has been recovered. Mr. Brodhead, accompanied by City Marshal Roy Ties and a government agent, visited several cities Friday in search of the car. It is thought the same party who stole the Oakland car at Verona, and abandoned it when it broke down on the county north of Brodhead, may have taken the car. The usual insurance was carried by Mr. Brodhead.

The Rev. J. C. Hoffman, called here to officiate at the funeral of Mrs. Hoffman, returned to his home in New Richmond, Wis., where he is pastor, Miss Bernice Hoffman, who is in an Oshkosh hospital, is improving.

The G. A. R. Relief corps, Sons of Veterans and all other patriotic societies attended services at the Evangelical church Sunday by invitation of the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Nichol.

Plans are completed for the observance of Memorial day, under the auspices of the local branch of the American Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kline went to Beloit Friday to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Fredericks went to Madison Friday to visit relatives.

Mr. Fred Warr and Miss Daisy Black spent Friday in Janesville.

Miss Dorothy Murphy was home from Beloit over the week-end.

Miss Olive Skinner was the guest of her sister, Miss Violet Skinner, Winslow, during the week-end.

Mrs. C. L. Harris, Erie, Pa., mother of Mrs. H. D. Benjamin, and Mrs. Frank Lockwood, Albany, were guests at the Benjamin home Friday.

Edward Stabler, Janesville, spent Friday here.

Little Jane Ray Marsh is improving.

The opening dance at Bluff View park Friday night was well attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Johnson and family have moved to Juda. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Atkinson are occupying the former Johnson residence, which they purchased. J. B. Richmond purchased the Atkinson residence.

Bliven Gets New Sentence Soon

Papers in the state's case against Silas Bliven, convicted of liquor possession, have been returned to the municipal court here by the Wisconsin supreme court. Bliven is expected to come up this week for re-sentencing. Judge H. L. Maxfield sentenced him to 18 months in state prison on the grounds he had been previously convicted on a similar charge. The supreme court in ruling on an appeal, however, held that Bliven could not be sentenced under the general statutes, but only under the prohibitory law which provides a maximum sentence of six months in jail on one count.

Lions Club in Annual Session at Green Bay

Green Bay—Addresses by state and national leaders and entertainment numbers will feature the annual convention of Wisconsin Lions clubs which met under way here Monday. Lions and Lionesses from 20 clubs in the state were scheduled to be on hand for the three-day session.

The Lions' stunt night program, to be staged Tuesday night after the annual banquet, is expected to be one of the outstanding entertainment features. It will be for the purpose of a contest for honors along dramatic and comic lines. Each club is entered with a troupe of fun makers for prizes offered by the convention committee.

Melvin Jones, international secretary of the Lions club, will be the leading speaker on the regular program. The Rev. William Dwyer, Milwaukee, and Bert Williams, also of Milwaukee, are other speakers.

The Lions' parade Monday was to be the opening shot of the convention. Members of all south state clubs had made arrangements to meet in Appleton and proceed to Green Bay in the parade.

Work of Lions clubs of the state during the past year will be reviewed during the convention and plans for the coming year outlined.

Welfare Groups Meet at the Bay

Green Bay—Wisconsin's rural welfare workers are scheduled to take a prominent part in the biennial meeting of the Public and Private Welfare groups in Wisconsin, to be held here June 3 to 5 under auspices of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, according to Aubrey Williams, executive secretary, Madison.

William Hodson, director of rural welfare work for the Russell Sage Foundation, New York city, has promised to present information on "Child Welfare in Rural Communities." The discussion will be led by J. H. Kohn, rural sociologist of the state university.

John S. Donald, former secretary of state and now a member of the state agricultural staff, is scheduled to preside at the afternoon meeting when the general topic of rural work is to be considered. How Farmers Can Reduce Taxation by Increasing Social Work will be handled by John P. Cunningham, agricultural publisher, R. W. Davis, president of the Wisconsin county board association, will lead the discussion.

Ralph A. Peterson, county agent of Wood county, will speak on "Practical Methods that Have Succeeded in Rural Communities." The Social Arts of Wisconsin Farm Organizations for 1923 will be the subject of an address by Gustave Zottlow, Brown county, representing the Society of Ruralists. Mrs. Herman Ide, Winnebago county, of the state Grange, and George W. Hull, Farm Bureau federation.

WIRING ORDINANCE TO BE INTRODUCED

Paving Rebate, Traffic Regulation, Other Matters Before City Council.

Introduction of a new city ordinance on electrical inspection and licensing, report of the special committee on traffic regulation, and discussion of various matters connected with the city council at 7:00 tonight. A lengthy session is anticipated.

The electrical ordinance, a resume of which was published several days ago, is in shape for passage should councilmen agree on it, but as it is not proposed to have the licensing feature of it become effective until July 1, it is probable it will be laid over until the June 9 meeting for adoption. The measure provides for an examining board which must test all applicants for electrician's licenses and calls for the appointment of a city electrical inspector, giving the manager power to add the duties of this office to some employee already on the payroll until it is decided to have a permanent inspector for full time work.

Traffic Committee Report.

Considerable interest will be aroused by the report of the special committee on traffic regulation appointed at last meeting by President J. K. Jensen. This committee is expected to recommend radical changes in the arterial highway ordinance, requiring traffic to stop at every intersection of an arterial highway and at only a few crossings, as at present.

The committee met last week and drew up a tentative program for arterial highways which would increase the number of "stop" crossings from 11 to 62, more than 400 per cent. The committee also gave consideration to a proposal to abandon the mushroom traffic lights in favor of crosswalk traffic guides, not lighted.

In view of the fact that the special assessments for paving were levied as a year before the program was set and the contract price is less than this, there is every indication that property owners will benefit by a reduction of 8 to 10 per cent from the assessments originally levied. City Manager Henry Teacher is making an investigation to determine how much of a rebate can be granted and it is expected he will make recommendations at Monday night's meeting.

A report of the Janesville Traction company's attitude in regard to problems arising from the program is also expected.

Several other matters of lesser importance are also due to be acted upon.

COOLIDGE CHOOSES LOGIC, NOT POLITICS

Party Expediency in Background as President Asserts His Leadership.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924, by the Janesville Gazette. Special Correspondence to the Janesville Gazette.

Washington — President Coolidge does not intend to become an expediency executive. On the first tests which are facing him—whether to yield to party expediency or remain consistent with his announced attitude. Mr. Coolidge has chosen the path of logic and not politics. Mr. Coolidge's confidence with the republican members of the senate foreign relations committee has been the subject of much talk during the past week and days. Mr. Coolidge has been urged to abandon the position he took on the world court and to support another plan sponsored by Senator Lodge or Senator Pepper, both of whom object to the fact that the present court was created by the league of nations and that judges for it are selected through the machinery of the Geneva institution.

Assertion of Leadership
Mr. Coolidge's reply was an assertion of leadership that is nothing less than a sensation. He told the senators that his first address to congress last December was the program on which he went before the American people—namely, support of the present world court, even though created by the league—and that in subsequent addresses he had reiterated that view. During all that time—since last December—Mr. Coolidge points significantly to the fact that he had in a sense gone to the country on the issue and that the delegates to the next republican convention had been elected on the basis of the Coolidge program announced in the interval. The president says he cannot alter his position now and keep faith with the delegates elected.

This means that Mr. Coolidge feels the republican national platform should correspond to his own view on the world court, even though action may not be obtained at this session of congress beyond a report from the senate foreign relations committee.

Mr. Coolidge feels also that he is bound by the pledge he gave when he took the oath of office, namely, to support the major policies of the late President Harding. In conversation, Mr. Coolidge refers to his own position always as being in favor of the Coolidge program. Under such circumstances can the Cleveland convention repudiate the late President Harding, as well as the nominee, President Coolidge? The answer now is that Mr. Coolidge will force the convention to insert a plank favoring American membership in the present court, with reservations distinctly stating that this in no way involves American membership in the league of nations itself.

The president has an even more awkward problem to handle in the immigration question. Secretary Hughes is opposed to the bill that has been passed by congress on the ground that it offends Japan. Mr. Coolidge tried in vain to persuade congress to change the wording of the bill that it would accomplish Japan's exclusion without without offense to Japan. In this he failed. To sign the bill is to contradict his own attitude in weighing the advantages to the country in signing the bill and the disadvantages in an estrangement with Japan. If he could persuade Japan to be patient until a treaty could be negotiated to supersede the pending bill, he would be able to sign the measure and negotiate later. But it appears that the Japanese will be deeply disappointed unless the bill is vetoed. If it is vetoed, it can not pass over the veto, because the opposition on other grounds is sufficient to prevent a two-thirds vote in the house.

The president's friends are saying that he will sign the bill and announce his intention of negotiating a treaty to take the place of the Japanese provision in the bill he signs.

As for the tax bill, to which Secretary Mellon has indicated his opposition, Mr. Coolidge will apply a simple test. If he finds, upon careful scrutiny, that the bill proposed is an improvement over the present law, he will sign it. A glance at the tables showing the material cut in taxes for everybody of large and small income under the measure which has just come out of the conference committee of the two houses is convincing evidence that the measure is indeed an improvement. This means signature and the enactment of the bill into law. There are not enough objectionable features in the bill to warrant a veto, though Mr. Mellon's opposition will lay the foundation for further action in the next session of congress.

Wisconsin Leads in Co-op Marketing Associations in 1924

(By Associated Press)
Madison, May 26.—How many co-operative associations and organizations does Wisconsin possess? This is the question which will be answered as a result of a state-wide survey of co-operative orders now under way by the state department of markets. Several years ago the marketing department made a survey and the enactment of the bill into law. This, however, has not been brought down to date.

Wisconsin probably has more co-operative bodies than any other state, officials declare. "It is hoped that the co-operative directory will serve as a benefit in advertising the progress of the state as a co-operative center."

Survey letters have been sent out to agricultural officials and agents over the state to obtain names of co-operative bodies.

The Methodist church was filled to overflowing at the Union Memorial service Sunday morning. The societies attending in units were the G. A. R., W. R. C., Spanish American War Veterans, and auxiliary, American Legion and auxiliary. The memorial sermon was delivered by the Rev. Joseph S. Morris of the Congregational church, who took for his theme "Gratitude to the men who made all national blessings possible by rising to their country's need." There was a memorial day anthem by the choir. Mr. Rudolph Krebs sang "The Reconciliation." A quartet composed of C. A. Downing, Henry J. K. Morris, and C. E. Masters, bass, sang "We'll Keep the Faith." Only seven of the Civil War veterans were able to be present. G. H. Pounder, Gilbert Scott, Sherwood Chase, William Parks, DeWitt Wilcox, John Mesmer and William Noel.

The first day of the poppy sale was a busy one for the Legion Auxiliary. Poppy girls stood at each corner of the downtown district, and all passers by were solicited. More than half of the poppies were sold. The proceeds of the poppy sale will go to the war orphans and disabled ex-service men. The sale will continue through Friday, Memorial Day, on which day each one is asked to wear a poppy.

SCOUR CHICAGO IN SEARCH OF CLUES IN FRANKS MURDER

Young Franks several days before he disappeared were seized at Summit, Ill., about 20 miles from here, and brought to Chicago for questioning.

There was some effort to connect disappearance of Geraldine Barker, 17, with the kidnapping of young Franks. The girl has been missing since Wednesday, when she left an assembly near the school attended by the murdered lad. Her usual course homeward would have taken her past the corner at which the boy last was seen. Miss Barker's relatives fear she might have been a witness of the Franks kidnapping and therefore taken along by the kidnappers.

A florist who sent a wreath bearing the name Johnson to the funeral of the kidnapping victim yesterday is positive he could identify the man who gave him the order. The letter demanding $10,000 ransom sent to Mr. Franks after his son was dead was signed "George Johnson." The flower sender was described by the florist as of the type built up in theory by the police as the possible owner of a pair of spectacles found near the boy's body.

The police continue to look to examinations of typewriters and ocularists' prescriptions for clues. The ransom-demand letter having been typewritten expertly and the prescription for the glasses carefully worked out.

Gasoline By the Pound

In order that the general public may visualize gasoline prices in true perspective, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is endeavoring, in its advertising, to draw just comparisons with other staple and essential products.

At today's prices, if gasoline were sold by the pound, the price at service stations would be about 3 3/4c per pound.

Compare this with sugar at 10c a pound; bread or milk at 8c per pound; butter at 45c and cheese at 60c per pound, and it is apparent at once that gasoline prices are low—especially so when the service rendered by gasoline is considered.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) states, that with few exceptions, no other manufactured necessity is sold at as low a price as gasoline.

This low price is maintained despite the hazards attending the production of gasoline, and the vast amount of capital required to provide distribution facilities adequate to supply you with gasoline, when and where you want it.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), through intensified organization and unceasing initiative, has been a potent factor in the maintenance of low gasoline prices.

This Company endeavors to symbolize that American spirit of dynamic leadership, which combines business initiative with scientific skill for service to the thirty million people of the Middle West. This comprehensive service enables the man in modest circumstances to operate his automobile at a fuel cost which he easily can afford.

Directors of "Y".

What the Christian church and Christian welfare organizations mean to the young men of the city, Frederick Shannon, of the Central church, Chicago, speaking at the union church service in the Congregational church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the interest of the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Right hundred attended.

The church and affiliated organizations—including the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. have been spoken of as "the backbone of the city." Shannon stated, "The 'Y' is the 'wheel' on an automobile, the steering wheel. It is the guiding wheel."

Three New Directors
Five directors of the Y. M. C. A. to serve for the coming three years were elected, including three new ones. Those elected were S. C. Postwick and E. O. Holt, New Directors, and L. L. Stewart, M. P. Richardson, and Robert Cunningham. The last three served the Y. M. C. A. for the past three years.

This is the first year which the annual meeting of the "Y" has been conducted in the form of a union service, and the proved a success as the large attendance of the Congregational church was filled.

Secretary J. A. Steiner gave a short report of working during the past year, stating that in all departments the association has "held its own" and that moderate progress has been made in other lines of work. He estimated that 75,000 persons entered the local building each year, and that the establishment of the new department of the "Y" would probably increase the figure.

The treasurer's statement, a copy of which was placed in the hands of each person present, showed total receipts of $14,823.05 during the year, including the balance of $1,000 at the beginning of the year, with a balance of $13,823.05 in the bank on April 30. Resources were given at $2,921.00, and not assets at $2,921.00.

A. E. Matheson, president of the board of directors, presided. The Rev. E. P. Cross gave the scripture reading and the Rev. E. A. MacMillan, the prayer. Two selections, "Remember Your Creator," and "Still, Still with Thee," were sung by the Y. M. C. A. quartet, J. A. Steiner, Ralph Holliday, J. C. Keller and Alfred Olson. Mrs. W. E. B. B. was organist. The meeting was closed with the benediction by the Rev. E. P. Scribner.

To prove the point that Christian work is most important, Dr. Shannon took five men of his acquaintance, each under the arm of his own life, and showed their work to be of minor importance beside the great task of Christian organizations. The five examples were that of the great Broadway banker, English, who has done much to encourage thrift among the masses, which has resulted in the creation of many new well-to-do men, but he argued, while it is a great thing to help men to save money, it is an infinitely greater thing to add them to the ranks of the saved.

The speaker of Arthur Williams, head of a large electrical manufacturing plant in New York, and former secretary of the Sunday school in which Dr. Shannon was pastor, who has been instrumental in placing street lighting systems in hundreds of cities, which have done much in taking away the dangers of night prowlers, which he pictured as being more dangerous than wild animals. Yet, Dr. Shannon said, it is an infinitely greater thing to add them to the ranks of the saved.

"These who always walk by physical light, walk in darkness," he said, "but those who walk by the light of the spirit of Christ, walk in the light of life."

Among the great publishers who have done much to uplift men, through the printing of books, periodicals and newspapers, the speaker mentioned George H. Doran.

"That the best publication I know of on this planet is a fine book and blood edition of a man who was a man who lost the spirit of Christ," declared Dr. Shannon.

Assists "Yellow" Journalism
Speaking of newspapers in general, the speaker denounced "yellow journalism" and said that in his opinion, "Chicago has more 'yellow' newspapers to the square inch than any other city in the country."

Dr. Shannon said that New York was taken as an example of the lawless, standing for justice between men, but the church stands for justice between man and God, and its voice is tempered with mercy. Ross Matheson and William Francis Campbell, New York doctors, one of them the principal figure in the establishment of Trinity hospital, there, can heal only diseases of the body and physical wounds while it is a far greater thing to cure the mind, he said.

Dr. Shannon, whose sermons are broadcast each Sunday morning from radio station KYW, Chicago, urged that the new invention not be used as a substitute for regular religious services, and he desired that everyone attend his own church, even though he also goes to church "through the air."

Posthumous for Mrs. Brown.
Twelve friends were guests of Mrs. Martin Hession, 208 Water street, Friday night at a posthumous party honoring Mrs. George C. Brown, nee Miss Hazel Hession. Bunco was played and prizes taken by Miss Loretta Burke and Mrs. Mary Mulligan. Lunch was served at a table decorated with violets. A linen shower was presented to the bride-elect.

Temple Social Club to Meet—
Temple Social Club, Royal Neighbors of America, will meet at 7:30 Wednesday afternoon at West Side Odd Fellows hall. All Royal Neighbors and friends are invited.

Attends Sigma Phi Dance—Miss Margaretta Baines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baines, 439 North Jackson street, attended the Sigma Phi Wisconsin chapter, formal dinner, dance and house party at the Porter summer home, Lake Geneva, over the week-end. Miss Baines is a student at the University.

Plan for Catholic Banquet—Plans for the annual banquet of the Catholic Women's club are well under way with Mesdames A. C. Benkert, William Hayes and William Kennedy in charge of general arrangements. Tickets for the banquet may be secured at the Red Cross drug store, the Wisconsin Electric Sales company or from one of the women on the committee. The banquet will be held June 10 at St. Patrick's hall. Early reservations are urged by the committee.

Miss Walsh Hostess—Miss Elizabeth Walsh, 339 Lin street, entertained a card club, Thursday night. Bridge was played and the prizes presented to Miss Nell Radigan. Lunch was served.

W. R. C. Meets—The Women's Relief Corps will hold the regular meeting at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the City hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Flint Surprised—Mr. and Mrs. George Flint, route 3, were surprised, Sunday afternoon, by 28 friends and relatives who came to honor of Mr. and Mrs. Flint's fifteenth wedding anniversary. Supper was served and an aluminum show presented to the honored couple. The guests were from Janesville, Edgerton and Stoughton.

CAR PARKED ALONG CEMENT IS RAIMED

Parked along the Janesville-Edgerton concrete highway Saturday night to change a tire, a car of Roland Jordan, Janesville, was run into by an automobile occupied by a drunken driver, and the car was crushed. The accident occurred at the Aurora road where the concrete highway is under construction. The car was crushed because it had no tail light visible.

date, because they travel too slowly. Dr. Shannon, for his voice from Central church, Chicago, is heard by radio broadcast in Janesville before those in the front pews of his own church hear him, since the radio wave travels hundreds of times as fast as the sound wave. The world is neighborhood.

The world has become more than a brotherhood, he emphasized, through the agencies of swift communication. It is now a neighborhood, he said.

Dr. Shannon disapproved of all religious disagreements, since it is unchristian in what manner words are conducted, so long as the same belief prevails and the teachings of any Christian religion carried out. Though there are those who claim to be gnostics and atheists, the peculiar thing, he reasoned, was that a colony of them was never established, possibly for the reason that they could not endure each other's company.

Churches and Y. M. C. A. buildings are "the houses beside the road, that are a friend of man," Dr. Shannon concluded, and their services, though not spectacular and often lying so deep as not to be seen at all, are of vital importance.

COMMUNITY BETTERMENT

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Data are being compiled to show the progress that has been made in the community betterment work under the direction of the Federal Council of Citizenship Training, which was created by President Harding ten months before his death. The report is in preparation and will be published in the near future, after it has been formally approved by the council, of which J. J. Tigert, commissioner of education, is chairman, and Major C. H. Mann, of the war department, secretary.

It will be shown that more than half the states are actively interested in the work, and that the movement gives promise of attaining the proportions of a nation-wide drive. An immediate, tangible result, it is said, may be a large increase in the number of votes cast at the November elections, for the duty to vote is being emphasized as one of the chief obligations of good citizens. President Harding created the council, it was announced, "to make constructive suggestions as to how the federal offices may cooperate to secure more effective citizenship training, both in their own work and in cooperation with all other public and private agencies throughout the country."

One of the first things it did was to prepare a chart showing the activities of all the federal offices with respect to citizenship training and the relation of various governmental bureaus to various groups of the population. Next it prepared a "Community Score Card," setting up general standards by which any community can make a survey of itself and ascertain how it stands in the matter of good citizenship and the promotion of the public welfare. This score card is merely suggestive and communities that take up the work are urged to modify it whenever it may be found desirable so to do. The need of such surveys, as explained by the council, lies in the fact that citizens generally have indistinct and inadequate knowledge regarding many things which affect the life and welfare of their communities and make for either good or bad citizenship.

The council has no authority to impose anything upon individuals or communities and what- ever is done must come about through the efforts of voluntary organizations that now exist or may be formed in any community for this special purpose. It was explained that no attempt was made to define the term "community" or to limit the size of the community to which the score card may be applied, but that it might be applied to rural or urban school system, to a small local community, township, city, county, congressional district, state, or even larger unit, as might seem desirable or feasible in any given case.

To give the movement its secondary impetus, President Coolidge, last October, addressed a letter to the governors of all the states in which he appealed to them to cooperate with the federal council. He suggested that each governor appoint a state committee, similar to the national body, which should set up community standards for the state and work in an advisory way with civic organizations in all local communities that might be interested.

To date favorable responses have been received from some twenty-five states. Wisconsin is said to have taken up the work most aggressively and to have gone farther with it than any other state. A commission has been named there that has worked out a score card especially adapted to urban groups and a "Better Cities Contest" has been started, with substantial prizes for the smaller city and the larger city that makes the best showing. This contest will be opened in June and will run for the period of one year. As yet it is not known how many cities will enter the competition, but the interest manifested indicates that the spirit of rivalry is keen throughout the state.

Making a survey of a community, or scoring it, is done by some existing organization, such as a chamber of commerce, or by a committee created by the people interested in the project. The federal council suggests only that there should be enough people engaged in the work to make it thorough and not burdensome to the individual worker, and that the undertaking be given the widest possible publicity so that every person in the community will know what is going on, and why.

The council's score card has been arranged under five heads: Mental development, health and physical development, vocational development, patriotic development, and social and moral development. To each of these divisions a maximum score of 100 points is assigned making a possible total rating of 500.

Each of the divisions is subdivided and assigned a maximum score. For instance, under mental development, literacy of population has a maximum score of 15, provisions for elementary and secondary schools, 45, school attendance, 20, and public library, 9. Again, under patriotic development, preparation for exercise of the franchise may be scored up to 40 points, while exercise of the franchise is allotted 60 points as a maximum. Thus greater importance is attached to the actual voting than to the preparation for intelligent voting.

Preparation for the exercise of the franchise is ascertained by the questionnaire: "Are issues of the election discussed by pupils in your schools? Are school children taught a sense of the moral obligation to vote? What percentage of the foreign-born inhabitants eligible for naturalization are naturalized? Are enough classes conducted to teach all applicants for naturalization both English and the responsibilities of citizenship? Is a ceremony provided when inducting all applicants into citizenship?"

Exercise of the franchise is determined upon the basis of the percentage of the legally qualified voters who register, who vote in the primaries, and who vote in the final elections. Once a community has diagnosed or charted itself it will know, presumably, wherein it is deficient and what should be done about it. President Harding, in his last discussion of the subject, said that the broad, general objective of every community should be the American ideal set forth in the preamble to the federal constitution—"to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty."

"The nation at its best will not be better than the aggregate of all its citizenship," said President Harding. "We need to find a commanding and dominating national interest, and I believe it would be found if we could contrive to set before all the people the full meaning and implication of that simple statement about the aims and purposes of our government, which is found in the preamble of the constitution."

padlocked and now it is proposed to lay away the large pickpocket population in jails and prisons until after the convention adjourns, thus making it possible to move about in safety.

Roy Chapman Andrews thinks he will find the cradle of the human race in the Gobi desert. We won't believe it unless he finds the nursing bottle and a couple of petrified fig leaves.

Congressman Voigt ought to get an injunction against the newspapers that always spell his name "Voigt."

It now looks as though the deficiency was not to be in the treasury but in our congressmen.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

TO THE BABY.

I wouldn't let a grown-up sneer my coat with sticky jam:
 In the company of adults it's particular I am.
 I wouldn't let my neighbor run my private pocket through
 And scatter all my papers, but it's different with you—
 You may smear my linen collar, you may rumple up my hair,
 And because you're just a baby all my papers you may tear.

It's a queer old world, I tell you, with its rules of right and wrong.
 And the weak by laws protected from oppression by the strong.
 But you'll never find a statute, though world-over you should seek,
 Which protects the strong and saves him from the innocent and weak.

Here I sit and wait for you, though I'm sure you're true as true can be.
 I could have a man arrested for the things you do to me.
 I've a sacred sort of person. Not a grown-up man, you see, I dare
 To snatch my watch and pencils or my choicest books to tear.
 And I'm sure there'd be a battle if some humor-seeking chap
 Should raise his bowl of porridge and just spill it in my lap.

Yet I laugh to see you do it, and I kiss your sticky face,
 And I glory in the ruin that you scatter round the place.
 You may take my watch and fling it just as far as you can throw,
 You may leave your sticky thumb prints on my collar while I'm snowed,
 You may snatch the paper from me when you find it in my hand to-day,
 You may even break my derby, and I've not a word to say.

Why, you little tyrant baby, with those laughing eyes of blue,
 Your foolish and foolish daddy laughs at anything you do.

HOROSCOPE

TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1924.
 Astrologers read this as a disappointing day, for Uranus, Mars, Mercury and Neptune are all in malefic aspect.

It is a time for the exercise of will power in combating depression or discouraging thoughts and wise persons will postpone making important decisions.

Domestic harmony may be subject to jars, owing to the sinister power of Mars. Many divorces and separations are foretold.

Partnerships and contracts are subject to a forbidding way that behooves postponement of decisive action at this time.

The signing of deeds or documents should be delayed, for Mercury is in threatening aspect.

Again the stars presage excitement concerning oil and its many phases that concern the business world. A rise in prices is foretold.

During this government of the stars the public mind may be quick to absorb poisonous thought and dangerous propaganda may be more than usually effective.

The tendency to believe the worst about one's neighbors and the people of the whole world may be marked under this planetary direction and should be overcome by every conscientious man and woman.

Losses and decrease in railway receipts may follow much early spring travel. Freight carriers are to sustain heavy shrinkage of business, if the stars are read aright.

Serious earthquakes may be expected in Italy, Persia and the south of Europe.

A royal betrothal is foretold for next month in England when the Prince of Wales may become engaged.

Danger of war is indicated for Great Britain over which threatening stars hold sway.

Persons whose birthday it is have the forecast of a quiet year in which business affairs may be rather a bother.

Children born on this day may be rash and headstrong. These subjects of Gemini may meet many changes in life, but they are likely to be extremely talented and lucky. Many writers are born under this sign.

The fewer the clothes the tougher the skin.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
 May 26, 1884.—More than a thousand heard the address of Frances E. Willard, president of the National W. T. C. U. at the Congressional church here last night. Mrs. J. J. Kinney, president of the local society, presided at the union church meeting. Following the address a vote of thanks was given the speaker.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
 May 26, 1894.—Eighteen wolves have been killed in the county so far this year.—The Red Cross and Templar degrees were conferred upon Engineer Reinhold Erdman, of this city, at a special meeting of Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, last night. Supper was served to the members at McDonald's after the initiation.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
 May 26, 1904.—Albeman A. E. Matheson has consented to act as the Memorial day speaker and his address will be given at the exercises to be held in the court rooms at 2 p. m. The parade, in the forenoon, will be headed by the G. A. R. file and drum corps. C. D. Childs is the chairman of the committee on arrangements.

TEN YEARS AGO

MORE HONEY.
 The talk about honey which I gave March 23 proved even more interesting to the bee-keepers than I had hoped, but it brought me very few samples of choice grades of honey.

On the contrary, swarms of the horrified honey-keepers and their friends have been about my ears ever since. I've learned a lot about honey—almost everything except how it tastes. Real, honest honey, that is. The general public has learned considerable about it, too, thanks to the lengthy and in some cases interesting discussions to the editors. I am sanguine now that when the bee-keepers or honey-producers' guild or organization gets all the clippings from the press bureau, due credit will be given me for all this free advertising of an industry which, a bee-keepers' magazine publisher assures me, engages 200,000 persons in the United States. His exact words were "300,000 honey producers in the United States," which of course may include the bees.

From the dreadful buzzing of all these bee-keepers I am satisfied that the honey-keepers are all the rugged, honest folk, and like the bees they produce two diametrically opposite effects upon one—that of the honey-keepers and of the honey-keepers' friends. I can testify that it is the genuine article. Upon the purity of the honey I am confident, for I refer to the authorities, since the samples have been presented for my observation. Be that as it may—anyhow I don't like honey and wouldn't eat it if I did for I dislike the flavor—I owe the honey-keepers of the country an apology and a word of explanation, in recommending the purchase of honey in the comb for assurance of purity and freedom from adulteration I was inspired by an authority on food adulteration, one Harvey W. Wiley, M. D., whose book on Foods and Food Adulteration, published by H. H. Harkness's Son & Co., says more than I said in my talk on the subject.

But this book of Dr. Wiley's is now an antique. It was published around 1912, in 1913, in fact, a long time ago. Some one has pleaded that we should make a bonfire of our books about every five years, at least of books dealing with science, and I am sorry to say that I am inspired by an authority on food adulteration, one Harvey W. Wiley, M. D., whose book on Foods and Food Adulteration, published by H. H. Harkness's Son & Co., says more than I said in my talk on the subject.

I would like to see it if it indicates a serious kidney trouble when the urine leaves an iron rust stain. (S. M.)

Answer—I never read bad news, so don't ask me whether anything is "worse" or "better" than anything else. I don't worry about it. But I can assure you such a stain has no significance. It is a great blessing in the old saying: "No news is better than bad news." Maybe this accounts for a great deal of silence.

Any danger in using for food the meat of an animal which had tuberculosis? (S. M.)

Answer—Not if the meat is well cooked. Much of the beef marketed is from tuberculous animals.

ASK US

(Any reader can ask the answer to any question by writing the Gazette, 201-201 E. Milwaukee St., Janesville, Wis., and enclosing a return address. The Gazette will endeavor to answer all questions, and will return the answer to the inquirer.)

Q. What year were steam trucks ruled off the roads in England? W. F. P.

A. The steam trucks were ruled out as early as 1759; however, it was not until 1827 that they became practical. In 1833 they were ruled off the roads.

Q. Do the reformers who object to the use of boxing as a sport? R. H.

A. Boxing is generally regarded as a harmless, character-building sport. Usually it is not condemned by those who protect against prize fighting.

Q. How many cows does the Hershey company have to supply milk for their product? P. V.

A. The Hershey company says its herds do not supply it with all the milk required in the manufacture of the chocolate, but that it receives a large quantity from the country with- in a radius of 50 miles. The milk is gathered at 45 branch receiving stations. On the Hershey farm at the present time there are approximately 1500 head of stock.

Q. How long does it take for a human body to become a skeleton? R. H. S.

A. According to the textbook on "Medical Jurisprudence" it takes from one and one-half to two years for a body to become so decomposed as to leave nothing but the skeleton. However, if the body has been embalmed it will stay in a preserved condition indefinitely.

Q. Into what kind of containers is helium put when in use in dirigibles? F. W. T.

A. Inner gas cells, actually containing the lifting gas, are made of gold-beaters' skin, a derivative from cattle. It is practically wire, but pores and contains gas better than any other material.

Q. Did a son of Abraham Lincoln see his assassination? J. D.

A. None of his children was present when President Lincoln was shot during a play at Ford's theater.

GILLILAND PAYS TRIBUTE TO VETS

Dreams of War Days Revived in Inspiring Sermon at Memorial Services.

Memorial day services at the First Christian church Sunday morning were attended by 10 Civil war veterans, eight Spanish-American war veterans, and about 40 women members of patriotic organizations, as special guests. Mrs. Raymond Spaulding played "Onward Christian Soldiers," while the guests marched to seats reserved for them. The choir sang as a special number, "Where Are the Boys of the Old Brigade."

The Rev. E. A. Gilliland took for his sermon text, the scripture from Joel 2:28, as follows: "Your old men shall dream dreams, and your young men shall see visions."

"We have made light of dreams and visions," said the Rev. Mr. Gilliland. "Nevertheless dreams have had a vital relation to the world's progress. The dreams I have in mind have to do with a bit of history in which you were interested participants. They are solemn and sacred dreams of the past which you and your comrades are dreaming today. Let me dream them with you."

"Dreams of attack upon our flag; the tense excitement; the swift upsurging of the flood of patriotism; the call to the nation and your quick response; enlistment, leaving the loved ones home, going forward to the front. Dreams of camp life and hardship; dreams of terrible battle shock and of death's black encircling wings; dreams of prison pen and the slow or swift starvation; dreams of the battle once more and wounds, and the hospital wards, and scars that remain through life; dreams of privations and sufferings such as mortal flesh could scarcely endure; of victories that intoxicated with joy, or defeats that strained the very fibers of the soul. Yes, this is a time of dreams from a sacred, a holy past."

Nation's Gratitude Strong.
"You call up one by one the names of those fallen with whom you shared your blankets, did picket duty, and fought side by side on this or that bloody field. Along them your ranks are growing. You constitute part of an army to which no recruits can ever come. The steady resolute artillery of time hurls its deadly missiles into your ranks and every hour you are becoming fewer in numbers."

"The maximum membership of the G. A. R. was reached in 1900, when there were 402,482 members. In each year since there has been a falling off. As time goes on the death rate increases. And yet the Grand Army of the Republic is only fewer in numbers; in respect and gratitude of the nation and in its power as an influence for good it was never stronger."

Tribute to Women.
The speaker paid tribute to the women who gave loved ones and made great sacrifices in the Civil and later wars, saying, "The heroes were not all men. Women were heroes. The heroism of mothers, wives and daughters, who gave those dearer to them than life itself in defense of the Union and freedom must not be forgotten nor overlooked."

"Continuing, the speaker said, 'Almighty indeed is the appeal of patriotism to the human heart. Touched by its inspiration, men find no sacrifice too great. Wealth and friends, home and loved ones may, even life itself, are not held dear when the fate of the fatherland hangs in the balance. Scrip the world's history of the element of patriotism and you have left it without power to inspire, motionless and dead. Call it sentiment, if you will, but it is a sentiment whose glory it has ever been to stir to action the noblest impulses of the human soul and without which the world would have slumbered on in lethargic dullness even until this day.'

"But it is a mistake to suppose that the only manifestation of the spirit of patriotism is on the field of battle. He is not the only patriot who shoulders his gun and marches with martial tread to make war on a foreign foe. The patriotism that is needed to solve the great problems confronting the nation is that which is truly Christian. Behind the musket is not the only power where heroes are needed. They should be in the pulpit, on the public platform, in the editor's chair, and behind every ballot."

The subscriptions which you secure may be either for daily home delivery by the local news carrier — in this case you need collect no money—or for mail subscriptions—in this case you collect $1.75 for each four-month subscription or ask the subscriber to send the money to The Chicago Daily News.

A four-month mail subscription to The Chicago Daily News, including postage, costs only $1.75. Many of your neighbors have relatives and friends in the country to whom they will be glad to have the paper mailed at such a low price. Your father can give your aunt the welcome present of a Chicago Daily News subscription and at the same time help you win a wagon.

This wagon, the finest ever built by the Dan Patch Company, is the best one we have ever offered. Its specifications are as follows:

SIZE OF BODY: 36 inches long and 16 inches wide.

MATERIAL: The body and handle are of clear selected white ash; the running gear and the disc wheels are of steel; the tires are solid rubber.

FINISH: The woodwork is natural color, finished in smooth, clear varnish and trimmed in red paint; the running gear is black; the wheels are enameled in brilliant red with black hub-caps. The lettering is in black.

SPECIAL FEATURES: The box is removable by unscrewing four wing-nuts, which "clears the decks for action"; the wheels are equipped with best quality double ball bearings; the wagon is fitted with a steel hand brake which presses a wooden roller firmly against the rubber tire.

Just now it will be especially easy for you to get people to subscribe to The Chicago Daily News because on Tuesday, May 27, publication begins in the paper of a thrilling serial story, "The Sea-Hawk," by Rafael Sabatini, author of "Scaramouche," "Captain Blood," and "Mistress Wilding."

"The Sea-Hawk" is a tale of romance and piratical adventure on the high seas which every man, woman, boy and girl of your acquaintance will enjoy reading. A BEAUTIFULLY ILLUSTRATED PHOTOGRAPH REPRINT of the first 5 installments can be had FREE for the asking from us or any of our newsdealers; this reprint is full of interesting photographs made at the time of the filming of the moving picture based on this story, and is printed by the process which has already made The Daily News Saturday Photogravure Section famous. We shall send you a copy of this reprint with your subscription blanks (use the coupon below); it will help you wonderfully if you show people the reprint. Your dealer will give them one if their subscription starts after May 27.

CLINTON TOWNSHIP

Cold Weather Fails to Chill Enthusiasm at Big Community Event.

Damp ground and a raw wind did not deter the teachers, parents and pupils of Clinton township's six one-room schools from gathering at Carver's Rock Saturday and having an enjoyable community play day. The men's baseball team picked from residents of the northern half of the township won over the southern half by a score of 9 to 3. A long list of races and novelty contests were participated in by both children and adults. A program of exceptional merit was presented in the hall by the different districts, with music by the Bergen and Conry orchestras as a feature of the indoor program. The Rev. W. P. McDermott and a party of local county fair boosters appeared on the scene accompanied by the Evansville high school band, which provided a half hour concert.

The program by the school districts was announced by Miss Marie Ladden of the county superintendent's office. County Supt. G. P. Longbottom made a few remarks near the close of the program. Numbers were furnished by the district as follows:

The Greatest 5 Days' Selling Event Ever Held in Southern Wisconsin. Sale begins Tuesday, May 27, Ending Monday, June 2nd

One year ago the 26th day of this month, this Popular Priced Wearing Apparel Shop was opened up to the public. We predicted the success of this adventure, as we believed a store of this character was needed in Janesville. The promises we made you at this time, we believe, have been carried out to the letter, as the liberal patronage you accorded us, fully bears out this fact. Our ambition from the very start was to give the public the very best merchandise obtainable within the price range that we have established; this we have done and will continue doing, as our policy, buying for cash and selling for cash only, enables us to do it. We want to thank our many patrons for their patronage and great appreciation shown. As you, with our greatest efforts, have made this the Greatest Popular Price Store in Southern Wisconsin.

EXTRA SALES PEOPLE WILL BE HERE TO GIVE YOU EVERY CARE AND ATTENTION.
